Dear Mr and Mrs Hart

Re: App No. APP/10/00288

1. Type of tree: Yew Tree
   Age: 120 years (approximately)
   Condition: Tree is in good health
2. The impact that the proposed alternations of the drive will have on the tree is: none. All digging will be dug by hand. Care and caution taken so no damage is done to the root system. The maximum depth that will be dug is 150mm.
3. The block paving being used is of a permable type of construction so that the tree is not starved of water.
4. The tree will be protected by a fence all the time excavation and works to the driveway is carried out.

In our profession opinion the driveway is of sufficient distance not to cause any harm to the tree.

Yours sincerely

David Farrington
