

An isometric architectural rendering of a modern, single-story house. The house features a white gabled roof and light-colored, textured walls. A prominent brick chimney is located on the right side of the roof. The front facade includes a small gabled entrance porch with a dark door and a large window, and a side entrance with a dark door and a window. A large, open-sided patio area is visible on the right side of the house. The property is enclosed by a tall, dark metal fence with vertical bars. The rendering is shown from an elevated perspective, casting soft shadows on the ground.
