

Archaeology Statement

Modular Classroom – Glenwood School, Washington Rd, Emsworth, PO1 0NN

There are no archaeological sites currently recorded at the school, nor any in the immediate vicinity. An archaeological survey just to the north of the school beyond the A27 did not find any archaeological remains and whilst it may be unwise to extrapolate that result too far it does not suggest a landscape of high archaeological potential. The small scale of the development and the previous impact of the existing school development also suggest that the chances of encountering archaeological remains is low and insufficient to merit the imposition of a burden on to the planning permission to monitor or record during development. Therefore no further archaeological work is recommended.

Sincerely

David Hopkins
(County Archaeologist)

Specialist Environmental Services
Economy, Transport and Environment Department
Elizabeth II Court West, The Castle, Winchester SO23 8UD

Email david.hopkins@hants.gov.uk
01962 832339 www3.hants.gov.uk/landscape-and-heritage/historic-environment.htm