

Dear Mr Oliver

Overall we welcome the development of homes on brownfield sites

However we have the following questions:

1. It is good that there will be higher than required insulation standards and solar panels. I would like to know how many solar panels are planned per dwelling and whether these will be linked to a feed-in tariff or batteries?
2. How will the homes be heated?
3. Will they have a gas supply or will they be all electric?
4. Will there be scope to have some bat boxes and bird nesting boxes on the buildings?
5. Will the homes have secure space to store bicycles?