

Dear Mrs Haywood,

I have looked at the plans for the development.

I like the fact that there are smaller and larger houses in the development.

I look forward to the development of this plot which has taken so long to be sorted.

My main concern is that there will be parking in Warblington Road for visitors going to houses on the development.

There are extra parking places on the plan but it is not clear if the road within the site is wide enough for cars to pass and also for cars to be parked on that road.

Inevitably cars will be parked along the length of Curlew Close, for example when there is a party.

Can extra parking spaces be created within the site?

I am also still concerned by the use of carports without garages causing a problem with security and aesthetic appearance, the amount of sports equipment, bikes, water craft etc is rising all the time. I still wonder whether it has been done to reduce the CIL levy.

Hoping this time the plans will go through and the development will start soon, I'm sure you will also be glad to see a satisfactory conclusion to a long planning process.
