

Our objection to this planning application is the proposed materials to be used for the walls (painted render) which is in stark contrast to the current brick outer skin rear extensions on the other six large detached Edwardian Victorian houses to the north of Fourth Avenue. These houses are set at an angle to the road and rear extensions are clearly visible from the road so any rendered finish on such a large volume will look like a "monstrous carbuncle". Notwithstanding any constraints imposed by the current emergency, I consider it essential for a representative from the Planning Officer to undertake a site visit before a planning decision is made.

The photographs below show the current view from our front garden (photograph A) and an impression of a rendered extension (photograph B).
