

Good morning Lesley.

This is nothing more than me needing to express my serious sadness and despair that Methis are getting their permission to wreck the field and woodland, despite the concern of Hampshire's senior ecologist. The trickle of tweaks to their plans makes it clear they are responding to requests. The climate is going to hell in a handcart and this is just adding to it. Looking out on about 50 baby birds I am utterly despondent.

Yours