

Hello Mr Oliver,

In the last 40-50 years our green spaces and open ground within the Havant area have disappeared and disappeared. Every small piece of ground has been built on or developed. I really am disgusted that you are considering the disappearance of more.

The reasons for my concerns.

The effect on the environment more busy, more people more cars. Fumes, loss of habitats. Loss of areas that grow plants within the area.

Massive drain on public services, Doctors, dentists, schools. All already at breaking point. Deteriorating the quality of life for the people who already live in this area. There are not enough of any ATM at lone if we add more people.

Noise. Traffic, parking. Extra roads.

Loss of important wild life within the area. Important Canada geese that come here every year.

Busier shops, post office. There is already a large population in this area. More waiting.

Employment a drain on employment in the area.

Isolation for older people who find it hard to drive on massive busy roundabouts that have been put there to service the over developed land.

There is already a large built up area by the Asda and B & Q.

There is a bylaw that states if the area has been walked by the public for 30 year it cannot be taken, please check this.

There has already been building opposite with the 360 houses. How do they feel about completing obstructing their view which they have paid for.

My brother is a builder who built the area of house at west Leigh he says they have had difficulties selling them we do not need more. There is an area of development opposite the oaks crematorium. And there is a factory in west Leigh x2 in fact that is being cleared for building???

Finally, it's just not right. Just because the government say you need to build X amount of new buildings doesn't make it right. Have some integrity it's not always right.

Although this is Havant it borders Portsmouth if you need to build more housing keep it away from the border of Portsmouth where it is becoming a sprawl.

Nobody wants this in this area. There was uproar some years ago when they were going to put Portsmouth football club in the same area. There should be now.

I expect to be invited to future meetings.
