Dear Sirs

Cowplain and Fernwood House London Road

It has come to our attention that there are proposals to put a further layer on the building Fernwood House on London Road in Cowplain. This will be an eyesore and a monstrosity in Cowplain and surely unsafe.

We would assume that the foundations of the building were built to specifications applicable at the time of building but surely those specifications do not meet the massive extra weight that would be put on the building with the addition of a further layer. Also, the age of the building must surely preclude any such massive weight addition. With recent disasters involving flats we do not want to see Cowplain hitting the headlines as another such disaster in the future.

We have already been inflicted with Dominos Pizza in Cowplain with its drivers parking on double yellow lines and making it almost impossible to drive along Kings Road from London Road which is a safety hazard in itself. It seems that greed it set to destroy Cowplain whether the plans are safe or not.

We prefer to remain anonymous at this stage but hope that the Council do not just grant permission for this addition to Fernwood House without making sure that the foundations and building can cope with the weight addition.

It would also be appreciated if perhaps a parking warden could attend Kings Road as it leads onto London Road between 6pm and 10pm to see the dangerous parking that will eventually lead to an accident.

Yours faithfully
