Comment Reasons:

Comment: Whilst I support work being carried out, 4m crown lift is in no way enough to bring tree to acceptable/safe size. It has never been maintained in the 25 years I have lived here. The diameter spans the entire depth of my garden - more than 17m and hangs 9m over my property, directly over my roof. Heavy debris is constantly falling onto my garden, which, if this tree is not cut back sufficiently is likely to damage my slate roof or cause injury - possibly risking potential liability. The tree blocks all daylight to the west of my property. When a representative from the tree department visited June 2017 he informed myself and my neighbours that the tree was overgrown by 60%. Surely nothing less than a crown reduction would be enough to take into account 25 years of uninterrupted growth and bring the tree to a more manageable and safe size which should then be maintained. A 4m lift will do nothing to improve any daylight. Responsibility needs to be taken
