Comment Reasons:

Comment:Hello, I am all for starter homes as Hayling island is so expensive to buy.my issue is the No Parking for flats.

It states on form large public Carpark mostly underused, and ample of street parking.. where would this be ?

Hollow lane? Elm Close ? Hollow lane is used all through the day and night with people that don't want to pay the charges.

Elm Close is used as well for people shopping,working, appointments, gym users.as they won't pay the charges.

We bought in 1986 as it was a lovely quite and safe estate. Since Carpark charges came into use,outside my house is the Carpark.

Nothing worse when you have had a hard day at work and you come home to cars parked on your grass and no where to park. If I wanted that I would bought in portsmouth.

We feel like why should we keep paying for upkeep of outside just for everyone else to use. It s a private estate.

So I am concerned about the parking. Why do people have to be greedy, why can't they build less flats with parking. But GREED has taken hold of many people.

Regards
