

Dear Ms Crowther,

Discharge of condition 19 APP/20/01093 Land at Sinah Lane, Hayling Island

Thank you for your consultation. The discharge of this archaeological condition is made again the submitted post excavation report, which I cannot endorse to you.

At an earlier stage I did comment on a draft post excavation report where I commented that there were discrepancies between the feature numbering in the text and on the submitted site plan. This appears to have been resolved by the removal of feature numbers from the revised site plan altogether. This makes the report almost unusable as the features referred to in the text (by number) cannot be distinguished on the submitted plan. Further more appendix V 'updated project design', that is those tasks yet to be completed and including provisions to publish the results, is not attached below the title of the appendix. In an earlier draft the issues of publication set out but appear not to have been subsequently addressed in so far as in the current version no discussion appears at all.

The original draft of the post excavation report was not endorsed due to some minor matters. The present submitted post excavation report cannot be endorsed because of some significant omissions.

I do not recommend that the archaeological condition be discharged until a satisfactory post excavation report has been submitted and including what provision has been secured for the publication of the results,

Yours sincerely
