A photograph of a green roof covered in various flowering plants, including pink and yellow blooms, with a city skyline in the background.

A photograph of a terraced garden. The garden is built into a hillside using horizontal wooden planks as retaining walls. The terraces are filled with dark brown soil and various plants, including green leafy herbs, small white flowers, and tall, thin grasses. A set of wooden steps leads down the right side of the terraces. The background shows more greenery and a wooden fence.
