Dear Mr Toole,

Planning Application APP/21/01056 Garage 39 Portsdown Hill Road, Havant, PO9 3JU

Thank you for your consultation. The proposal is close to and just across the road from the Scheduled Monument of Bevis Grave, a Neolithic long barrow, which in turn is associated with Saxon burials. Two archaeological issues arise, the potential to encounter archaeological remains and the impact on the setting of the monument.

With regard to the archaeological potential I note that the houses are lower below the road suggesting that the natural slope has been terraced and it seems likely that any archaeological potential has already been compromised.

With regard to the setting of the monument I note that the garage will be set low in relation to the road, and that the setting of the monument is already characterised by an existing hedge line, road and subsequent backdrop of residential development. I don't believe that the garage will materially impact this setting of the monument.

On that basis I would not raise any archaeological issues,

Yours sincerely
