This architectural floor plan illustrates the proposed rear elevation of a building. The plan shows a large rectangular space with a central corridor and several rooms. A blue line indicates the proposed layout of the building, including a central entrance area with a double door and a small room. The plan also shows the existing building structure with black lines. A north arrow is located on the left side of the plan, pointing upwards. A scale bar is located on the left side of the plan, ranging from 0m to 10m. The plan is labeled 'PROPOSED REAR ELEVATION' at the bottom.

This architectural elevation drawing shows the proposed rear elevation of a building. The drawing features a series of windows and a central entrance with a double door. The elevation is labeled 'PROPOSED REAR ELEVATION' at the bottom.
