

As per our earlier telephone conversation and your request to step back the side extension, I can confirm that this not an option my client wishes to pursue due to neighbouring properties being the same design and therefore alighning with their design. The stepping back would also incur considerable build costs.

kind regards

Danny Manns
DM Designs