Dear Mr Barton, thank you for the interim evaluation report. Although the report is brief and incomplete it is unambiguous that within the areas that have been trial trenched so far there are no archaeological concerns arising. Whilst the final trenches and final report will be submitted in due course, I am happy to confirm that I would not have any archaeological objection to the construction of the show home (or indeed other areas that have been excavated) where no archaeological evidence was found in the trenching. I would be very happy to discuss individual areas as they come up.

I hope that is helps

Sincerely

David Hopkins
