Surveillance is recognised in the publication "Safer Places the Planning System and Crime Prevention" as an attribute of a sustainable community, it is defined as: "Places where all publicly accessible spaces are overlooked". The publication goes on to say "Many of the other attributes – particularly access and movement, ownership and structure – are under pinned by the theory that places are safer if they are overlooked. However, the notion of safety by surveillance is reliant on the assumption that, at all times, those who overlook will be a deterrent because they will act if they see a crime. Whether it is 'natural, organised or electronic, facilitating effective surveillance should be a core part of planning out crime. But it should not be relied upon as the sole strategy for tackling crime and disorder."

Any window included in the side elevation may require further planning control. Please contact the case officer for further advice.
