

The Highway Authority has no adverse comment to the application. I would however point out that the redline includes part of the car park which is not owned by them.