Economic development has no objection to this change of use. I feel that they have demonstrated that the property has been seriously marketed and that given its poor layout and previous use as a residential property then it should be permitted to revert back to residential use.

I have recently surveyed all Employment Land Review sites in Emsworth and can confirm that there are several offices to let at this present moment , all of which are more suitable for commercial use than the above property. e.g Several vacant units at Old Flour Mill and WREN Centre.
