Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: APP/12/00736 - 2 New Road, Havant

Thank you for consulting me regarding the above planning application. The site lies in an area of archaeological potential as identified in our response to consultation on previous application for this site. Although no archaeological finds or features are known from the site itself, it is located close to the line of the Roman road that ran from Havant to Clausentum (modern Bitterne). Archaeological monitoring of development to the southwest of the proposed site at the Bedhampton Social Centre recorded finds of Roman and Medieval date. Havant is located at a Roman crossroads surprisingly and it should be expected that archaeological finds and features associated with settlement, industry and trade in the Roman period may be encountered during the groundworks. Likewise archaeological information relating to the development and expansion of Havant in the Medieval and Post-Medieval period might also be expected. Although archaeology does not present an overriding concern, in accordance with the NPPF, I would recommend that the recording of any archaeological finds and features be secured through the attachment of an archaeological condition. For example:

That no development shall take place until the applicant has secured the implementation of an archaeological monitoring and recording action (watching brief) in accordance with a written scheme of investigation that has been submitted to and approved by the Planning Authority.

Should you or the applicant wish to discuss this further please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours Faithfully,

Dr Hannah Fluck
