Hi Jacky

Please find first of a few emails regarding our planned change to the roof at the rear of our house. I can't attach everything in one email unfortunately! I have the ordnance survey map and drawings of the existing rear of our house together with an additional drawing showing the proposed changes. I will email you a photo of the aerial view of our house and the windows across the back. The boundaries nearest our house are of brick construction and this will not change. Neither will the dimensions of the roof. The existing pitch of the conservatory roof will also not change just the materials used which will be slate in accordance with the dwelling house. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any queries.

I would like to confirm that we are requesting to change an existing roof at the rear of our property 2/3rds of which is the correct pitch already and we know we do not need planning permission for this to change. The other 1/3rd is currently a flat roof which is not overlooking any other neighbouring property and already has one parapit which is the correct height and pitch. The other parapit is a flat one and next to our neighbours flank wall. A photograph of which i have already provided.

Many thanks
Tina Porter
