The image displays three architectural cross-sections of a building, oriented vertically. Each section illustrates the internal layout, structural elements, and roof profile. The top section shows a multi-story structure with a gabled roof, featuring a staircase and a large window. The middle section shows a similar structure with a gabled roof, featuring a staircase and a large window. The bottom section shows a similar structure with a gabled roof, featuring a staircase and a large window. The sections are separated by a thick vertical line on the left side.
