Comment Reasons:

Comment: Highfield Parade in Waterloooville is a late post-war development, part of the town's broader redevelopment that created a pedestrianized shopping street.

This proposed development is not in keeping with this style or objective. Some of the shops have already had planning approved and been converted into dwellings, now the land around the Shopping Parade is now also being also being subjected to being converted/developed. At what point does it stop being identified as a Shopping Parade as the London Road/Highfield Ave road signage state?

This application has no positive benefit or effect for our community, it only furthermore impacts services and infrastructure in the surrounding area for the sake of developer profits.
