

Dear Ms wells,

Consultation Request for APP/25/00781 1 Sea Front, Hayling Island, PO11 0AG

Thank you for your consultation. A review of the historic maps suggests that this development is on a concrete hardstanding that sits on what was a dynamic beach environment. This would suggest that the archaeological potential is low. I do note the previous presence on site of the Royal Baths (now built over) but do not think that the prospect of uncovering archaeological signs of this merit the burden of an archaeological condition.

Accordingly I would not raise any archaeological issues

Yours sincerely
