

Exhibit RR1 – Register and plan for title [REDACTED]

This is the exhibit marked "RR1" referred to in the Statutory Declaration of Robert [REDACTED]
Rothery dated this 25th day of JULY 2024.

Signed.

[REDACTED]

Jessica Measham TEP CTA
Solicitor
Churchers Solicitors LLP
Wellesley House, 202 London Road
Waterlooville
Hampshire PO7 7AN

Commissioner for Oaths/Solicitor

[REDACTED]

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It then moves on to a literature review, which provides a background on the topic and identifies the gaps in the existing research. The methodology section describes the research design, data collection, and analysis. The results section presents the findings of the study, and the conclusion summarizes the main points and offers suggestions for future research.

The research was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the principles of good research practice. The data were collected from a representative sample of the population, and the analysis was carried out using appropriate statistical methods. The results of the study are presented in a clear and concise manner, and the conclusions are based on the evidence gathered.

The study has several strengths, including a large sample size, a well-defined research design, and the use of appropriate statistical methods. However, there are also some limitations, such as the cross-sectional nature of the data and the potential for self-report bias. Despite these limitations, the study provides valuable insights into the topic and contributes to the existing knowledge.

The findings of the study have several implications for practice and policy. They suggest that there is a need for further research in this area, and that the results can be used to inform the development of interventions and policies. The study also highlights the importance of considering the individual and contextual factors that influence the outcomes of interest.

In conclusion, the study provides a comprehensive overview of the topic and contributes to the understanding of the issues at hand. The findings are presented in a clear and accessible manner, and the conclusions are based on the evidence gathered. The study is a valuable contribution to the field and provides a solid foundation for future research.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It then presents a literature review of the existing research on the topic. The next section describes the methodology used in the study, including the data sources and the statistical techniques employed. The results of the study are then presented, followed by a discussion of the findings and their implications. The paper concludes with a summary of the main points and suggestions for future research.

The research was conducted using a quantitative approach, with data collected from a large sample of participants. The results show a significant positive correlation between the variables studied, indicating that the research hypothesis was supported. The findings have important implications for the field and suggest that further research is needed to explore the underlying mechanisms.

In conclusion, the study provides valuable insights into the relationship between the variables and highlights the need for continued research in this area. The results are consistent with previous findings and contribute to the existing body of knowledge.

[REDACTED]

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million (from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1999). The public sector has also become an important employer of women, with 4.5 million women employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 3.5 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of young people, with 1.5 million young people employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people with disabilities, with 1.5 million people with disabilities employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people from ethnic minorities, with 1.5 million people from ethnic minorities employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are over 50 years of age, with 1.5 million people over 50 years of age employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are under 25 years of age, with 1.5 million people under 25 years of age employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are single, with 1.5 million single people employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are married, with 1.5 million married people employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are parents, with 1.5 million parents employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are non-parents, with 1.5 million non-parents employed in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed full-time, with 1.5 million people employed full-time in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed part-time, with 1.5 million people employed part-time in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the health sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the health sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the education sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the education sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the social services sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the social services sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the housing sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the housing sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the transport sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the transport sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980. The public sector has also become an important employer of people who are employed in the energy sector, with 1.5 million people employed in the energy sector in the public sector in 1999, compared with 1 million in 1980.

Exhibit RR2 – Illustrated floor plans

This is the exhibit marked "RR1" referred to in the Statutory Declaration of Robert [REDACTED]
Rothery dated this 25th day of JULY 2024.

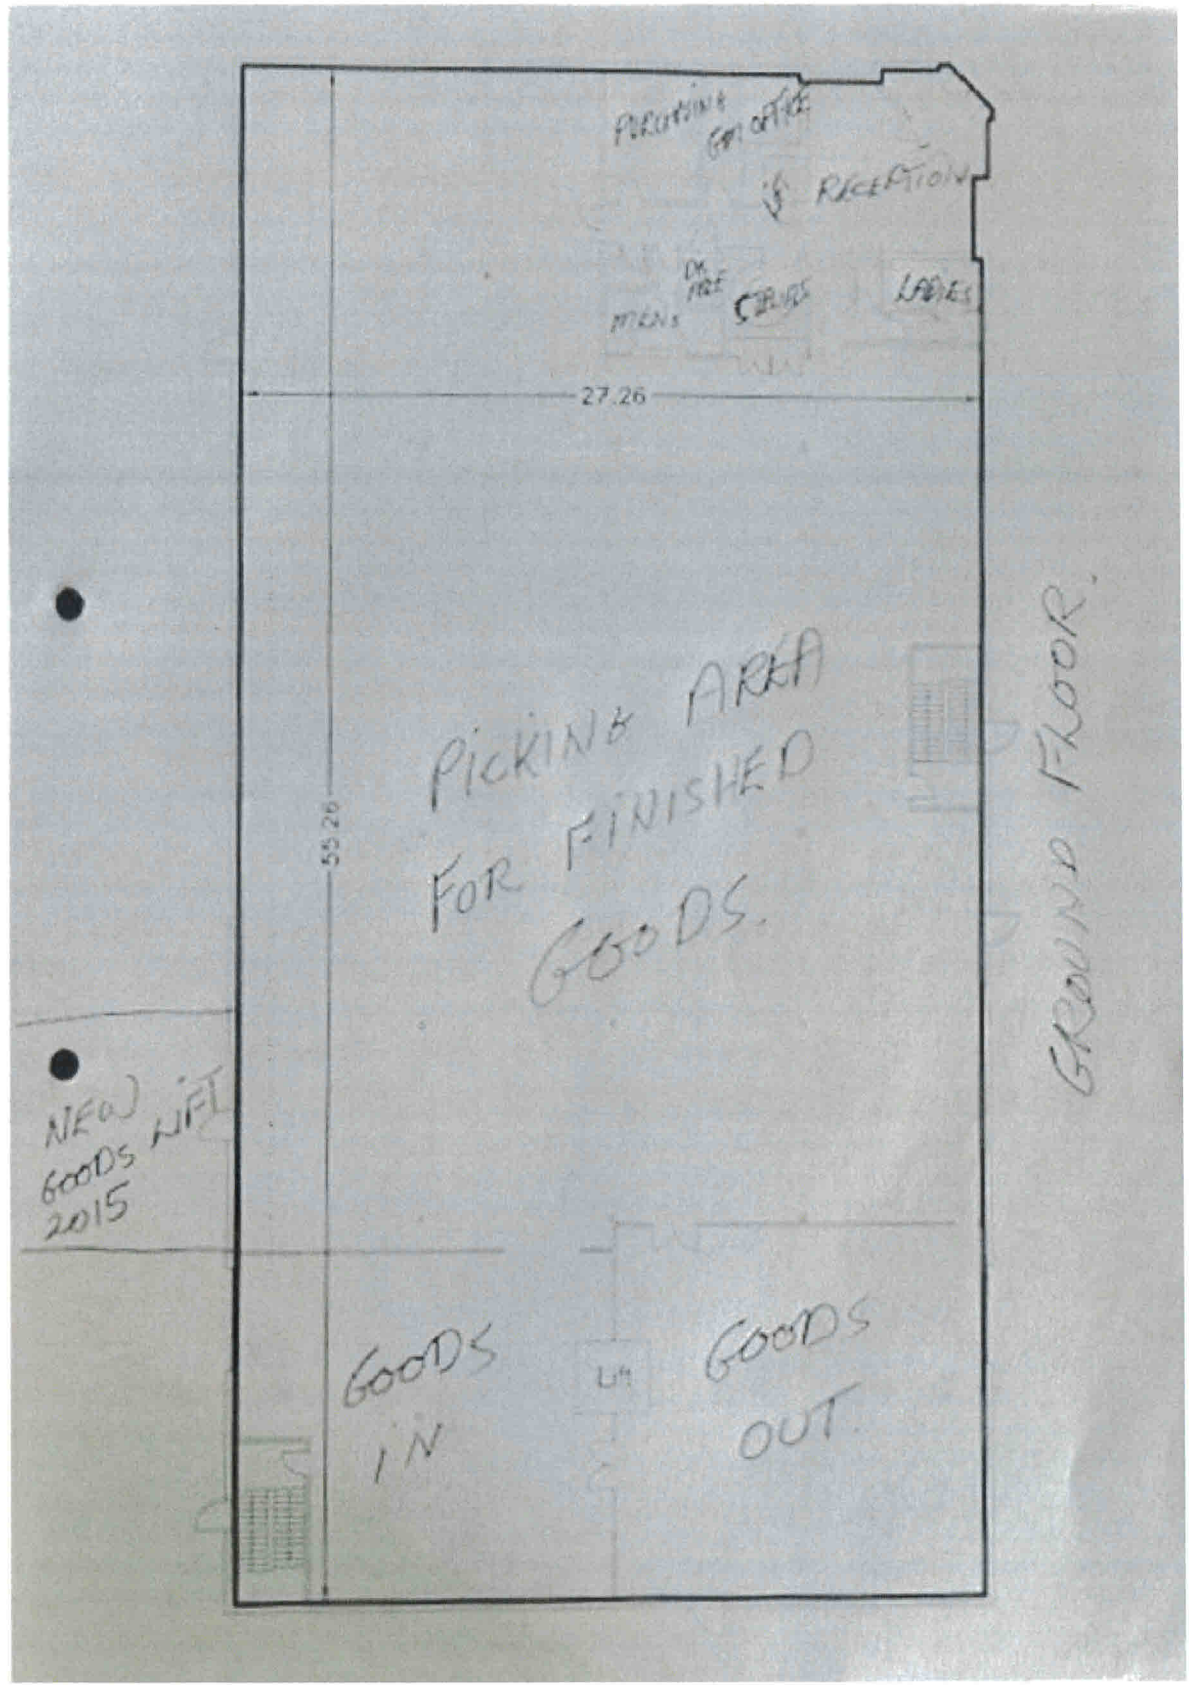

Signed

[REDACTED]

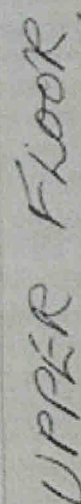

Commissioner for Oaths/Solicitor

[REDACTED]

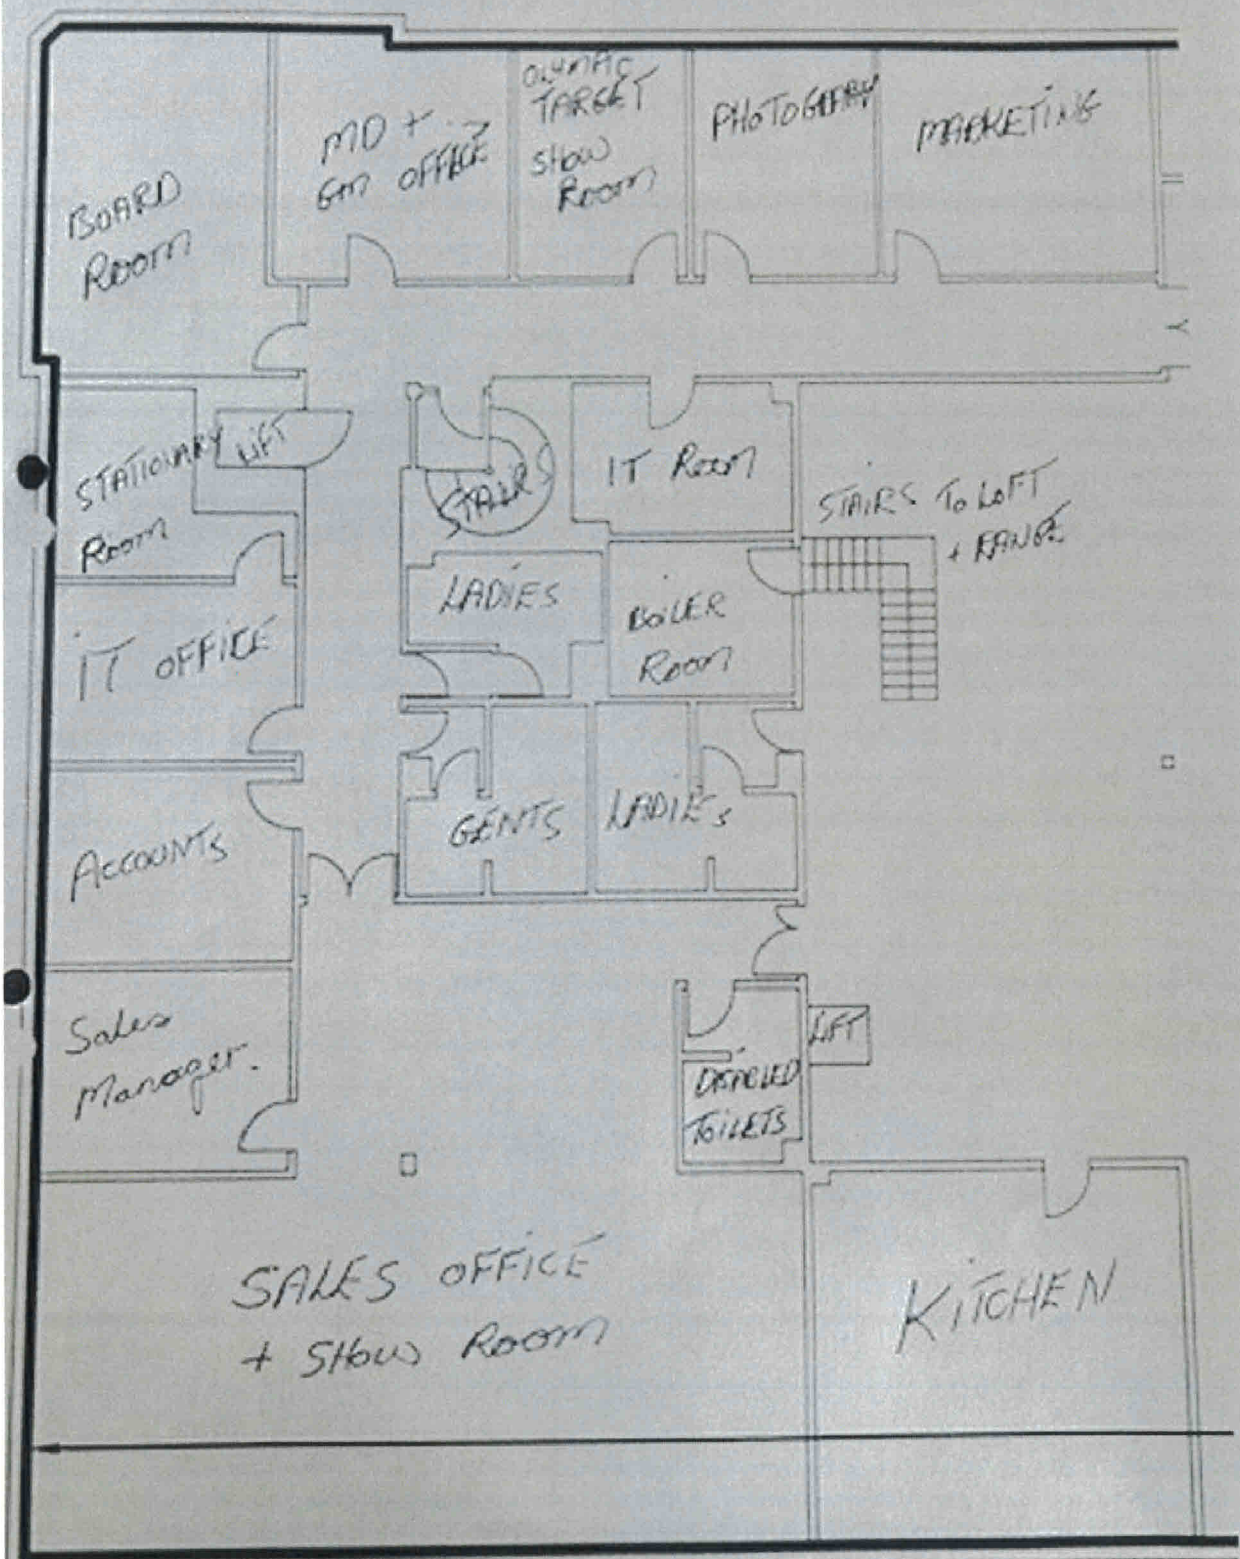

Jessica Measham TEP CTA
Solicitor
Churchers Solicitors LLP
Wellesley House, 202 London Road
Waterlooville
Hampshire PO7 7AN

95 spot
Building
to Lately
hobby

UPPER FLOOR OFFICES.

1 ABOVE ALL IS A LOFT FOR STORAGE + RANGE. 1

Exhibit RR3 – Screenshot of John Rothery Wholesale “About Us” page.

This is the exhibit marked “RR3” referred to in the Statutory Declaration of Robert [REDACTED]
Rothery dated this 28th day of JULY 2024.

Signed: [REDACTED]

...

Jessica Measham TEP CTA
Solicitor
Churchers Solicitors LLP
Wellesley House, 202 London Road
Waterlooville
Hampshire PO7 7AN

Commissioner for Oaths/Solicitor [REDACTED]

About Us

John Rothery Wholesale is celebrating its 52nd year of continuous growth and investment. We take immense pride in our well-established reputation, solid organisational structure, and advanced technical capabilities. However, our greatest and most valued assets are our customers, the people who made us "Supplier of the Year" throughout the competition's history in Tackle and Guns Trade Magazine.

We share an unwavering commitment to precision and attention to detail. Regardless of the value, scale or role of a task, our dedication to getting it right is unwavering. When we promise that, "It will be done," you can trust us to deliver on that promise.

Sales:

Our Sales Team is your initial point of contact with John Rothery Wholesale. They are the dedicated professionals who take your instructions and set the wheels in motion to meet and exceed your expectations within the shortest possible time. With their lively spirit, they leave little room for anyone who might upset "their" customers.

Accounts:

The members of our Accounts Team work diligently to serve your needs just as passionately as they serve ours. They understand that clear and concise information is crucial to ensuring your account operates smoothly to our mutual advantage. In our accounts department, there are no 'grey areas'; if an issue arises, they will channel all their energies into resolving it promptly.

Warehouse:

The responsibility of ensuring that the required stock is readily available for the safe packaging, dispatch and delivery of your orders within 24 hours* is a demanding one. Any challenges that arise are met by our Warehouse Team, who demonstrate an unparalleled level of skill and dedication.

Orders received before 3:00 pm to mainland UK*

Company Details

John Rothery
(Wholesale) Co. Ltd

Rothery House
Waterberry Drive
Waterlooville
Hampshire
PO7 7XX
UK

Registered in England.
Company No. 01029327
VAT No: GB 108-1115-19
Registered Firearms Dealer Hampshire
44/000000000194
EORI No. GB 108111519000