

Good Morning,

Thank you for reply, although I hear Highways have given the thumbs up so it's all set to go ahead, although I guess none of them live round here.

I can only trust what you say that a decision is still pending, but it's very rare that when there are enough people who object that anyone listens.

You only have to see the problem with parking that 3 more houses would create, and it's not that there isn't enough new build's going up all overwhy 3 houses in a pub garden.

Next they will be complaining about the noise so the council will tell the pub to stop the customers enjoying themselves. I hope I'm wrong and for once we residents all listened to.

Regards,
