

Salterns Loft Apartment Guide

The entire upstairs apartment is yours and, during your stay, you have reserved parking on the drive, exclusive use of the front door and the door to the garden.

The first cupboard is for coats and outdoor shoes. It also contains an electric heater and extension cable. If we are away the iron, ironing board and deionised water will also be there – otherwise please ask if you want them. The corridor has a door to the garage, but we will avoid using it when you are in.

Upstairs, in the living area, the bi-fold doors open all the way back.

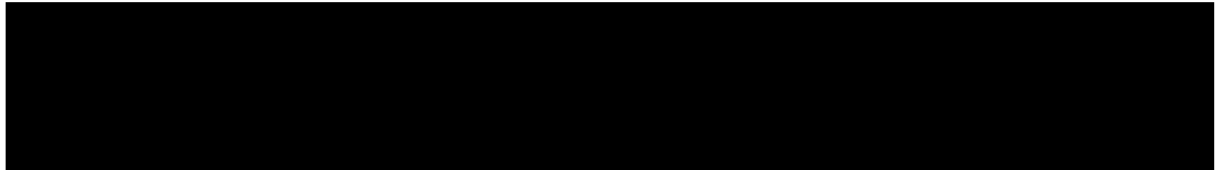

The light switches beside the spiral staircase operate ceiling lights and the middle one, the lamps. These will flicker if dimmed, but the dimmer works on the ceiling lights. The kitchen lights switches are on the glass splashback.

The extractor fan switch is left of the fridge. Please turn this on, as well as that above the hob, if you are doing any cooking.

The Velux windows are operated by the remote control located on the top shelf of the desk.

Here you will also find a folder containing information about places to visit, another with instructions for appliances, a recharging socket and a selection of books. Feel free to take any paperback you start reading.

The television has Freeview channels and a sound bar into which you can Bluetooth music from your phone.

The heating is set to come on when the temperature drops below 21 with a boost morning, lunchtime and evening. The control is on the top shelf of the desk.

The kitchen has a fridge-freezer, induction hob, oven with grill, dishwasher, microwave, coffee maker, toaster and kettle.

The bins are under the sink, together with cleaning materials and bin liners. Bins may be left on the deck for emptying or taken to the big bins (right at the palm tree), green box for bottles, black for general waste, green for recycling.

Crockery and glasses are in the top cupboards as are cooking basics. Tea and coffee making materials and equipment are above the kettle and toaster in the cupboard to the far right. Pans and cooking equipment are in the lower cupboards with utensils, tea towels, foil, cling film, trays and cutlery in the drawers.

In the bedroom you will find a digital radio/alarm, a hairdryer and laundry bags in the unit below the mirror.

The wardrobe contains a fan, bathrobes, alternative pillows, a flat sheet and throw, for when the duvet is too warm, and beach towels.

The bathroom cabinet light is operated by touch sensor under the right end. A socket for shaver and toothbrush recharge is inside. Extra towels, loo roll and cleaning materials are in the drawers.

You are welcome to use the garden freely. Cushions, rugs, fire making kit, bikes, helmets and lock are in the summer house (there is a key on your ring).

Most of the garden furniture stays outside but, if we're not here, please put the blue table and chairs in the summer house or gym if it is wet.

The gas barbecue is in front of the garage.

Beside it there is a long, retractable hose for rinsing kit. There is a washer and drier in the utility room on the other side of the house. Just ask if you want to use them. An outside clothes dryer is behind the water butt, left of the bins and in front of the utility room. There is a side gate to the front for when you are using the bikes.

Our slipway is very steep but there is another, which is gentler, beyond the gin and tonic bench, to the right.

There are a few examples of local artists' work in Salterns Loft. The painting of boats at Eastney and that of The Billy Trail, in the gym area, are by Mike Johnson – www.mikejohnsonart.co.uk; the pictures in the bedroom by Debbie Creasey – [REDACTED]; the glass clock by Lizzie Cornelius – www.icanseethesea.com; the glass bowl by Lesley Spencer – Harbour Fused Glass on Facebook and Instagram.

Check out time is 11.00. On departure, it would be very much appreciated if you could put used linen into the laundry bags, leave bins on the deck (or please empty them if we are away) and lock the front door. [REDACTED]
