

We understand that this planning application is still pending.

Please be aware that last weekend we have observed newts in our garden. They appear to move between our garden and the proposed development site as they have been observed going under the back fence (we back onto the proposed development site). Not sure what species of newt. This is the first time we have observed newts in the vicinity of our garden.

Making you aware so that appropriate consideration, investigation and action may be taken. Especially as all British reptiles are endangered and protected by law.

Kind regards,
