We submit this planning application as a very large family. We left behind our 3-bedroom terrace house that we previously lived in as we rapidly outgrew it.

[REDACTED] our home is in desperate need of reconfiguration.

We pride ourselves on the welcoming atmosphere of our home and the addition of large entrance would benefit this massively, adding much needed storage providing comfort to the hustle and bustle of our family.

As well as this, extending the front would provide the room to reposition the layout for a much better flow within the property. Having the spare bedroom at the front of the property will allow for the existing en-suite attached to be accessible to the whole family providing an additional bathroom space which would be really helpful.

The extension plays a vital role in the reconfiguration of the entire downstairs layout. The new configuration will create the addition of a larger family kitchen: the heart of the home. As well as a pantry and utility room.

The positive impact of this extension and reconfiguration would benefit our family beyond measure.
