

Dear Planning Service,

Thank you for the letter dated 25 June about the application of certification of lawfulness. Which came at the same time as diggers started to rip up [REDACTED] green, wildlife space. It was shocking to see the scale of the disruptive works and the impact of the local amenity.

I was unaware of the previous 'planning application' earlier in the year and feel a breach of planning notice has somehow taken place.

I object on the following grounds.

Consultation breach - even the planning statement doesn't not adequately depict the proposed change, which is massive (no plans).

Impact on our Historic heritage - this proposal impact on the view of a 15c origins church from a public foot path as well as a field that has been used by the public for decades.

Archeological impact - there has been archeological finds in this field and the proximity of the church and elevation would suggest some interesting ancestry.

Wildlife and biodiversity damage - the beauty of the area is that it is not farmed and therefore has lots of wildlife, insects and nesting birds, etc.

Loss of green space and amenity - this work seems to cross areas of path constantly and historically used by walker for many many decades. In fact the works that has already taken place puts the public at a health and safety risk.

Adverse Infrastructure impact - adjacent homes already have flooding issues this development increases hard landscaping and takes away natural drainage. It also increases I assume demand on water supply and drainage and traffic. All of which is very poor on Hayling.

Thank you for taking into consideration the above objections and I look forward to hearing more about the council's management of this and other development on our beautiful island.
