Dear Mrs Crawford,

I object to this planning application for the following reasons.

The plan drawings for the south wall of the new extension show that there will be a new wall two storeys high almost right up against my back fence. It will be high and it will nearly fill up most of the length of my back garden boundary. Because it is going to be so close to the fence, there will not be any space for a new tree screen to be planted.

I am worried about how the building works would affect my boundary because of the height and how close it will be to my fence. There might be scaffolding right above the back fence and risks of things like falling bricks and tiles, very close to where my young children play in the garden.

Although the application form says that work has not started, this is not true. A row of trees, including a large apple tree, have already been grubbed up on Merriville's side of the fence between my garden and their land. This happened a few weekends ago without any warning and was a real shock. As well as losing privacy, the whole soil bank they were growing in has been scraped away completely so that the footings of my fence are now totally exposed and it is no longer anchored properly.
