Dear Mr Ellis,

I wish to object to this proposed development on the land bordering Long Copse Lane in the strongest possible terms.

The site is unsuitable for countless reasons: lack of infrastructure, the extra pressure it will place on already oversubscribed schools and medical services, the difficulty of access and lack of public transport. The effect of the increased traffic movement during the building process and afterwards on the residents of Westbourne, and especially Long Copse Lane itself, will be devastating. For no good reason you will destroy a valued lane overlooking a beautiful piece of countryside. It is a haven for wildlife and is used continually by the whole community: walkers, cyclists, horse riders, dog walkers, families with young children, etc., The land bordering Long Copse Lane offers a wildlife habitat on the very edge of the South Downs National Park, and I know of no-one who thinks this plan is a good – or even viable – idea, or that the proposed site is in any way suitable for development.

Please reject this iniquitous proposal, once and for all.

Yours sincerely,

The email address given for contact does not work, and the message was returned to me. And before you say it should have had 'uk' on the end: it did, originally. I got a message saying that 'uk' was not recognised as part of that address, + wouldn't send the message at all.

None of this is very helpful if you genuinely want to invite people to register their objections.
