Havant Borough Council, Planning Department

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are horrified That Barratt Homes are still pursuing its Planning Application (APP/20/01093) for homes on Hayling Island after such an overwhelming complaint against this happening from their first application (APP/18/00724) with over 540 objections.

This is generally a pleasant place to live but its fine until one wishes to cross the Bridge off the Island and then we recognise how congested the A3023, the main road off the Island is. On one occasion we were going to cross to go to Bognor on a Friday early evening. We drove the four miles from our home to get to Havant, with no accidents or obvious blockages except traffic and it took us 1 hour. Allowing the new houses to be built just off Sinah Lane is quite irresponsible. Stop and consider the impact of occupants of these houses immediately with their owners needing to travel to work off the island, probably another 400 cars or perhaps later, with grown-up children needing to drive off the Island too, even more cars.

I understand that water main pressure will be increased to accommodate additional homes and everyone has suffered from Water Main bursts along the main road and will not wish it to happen again. The green fields around us are very productive farm land and we are being warned that food production is likely to be problematic in the World with Climate Change. At some point decisionmakers need to consider what their decisions of greed will have on the land and resist the temptations, such as these unwanted homes by local residents of Hayling Island. Even the Health Services cannot cope with the needs of the 400 new residents.

Your sincerely
