Dear Mr. Oliver,

I am writing to you today to register my support for the proposed development plans of Lidl on Hayling Island for several reasons.

There are a number of people without transport living on the Island who would benefit from this. It will cut down on road congestion with people not having to leave the island to shop as many now do. It will be good for local shops as people will be more inclined to use them. Also, a supermarket with more competitive prices must benefit all.

At this moment in time we have deliveries made to other supermarkets and one more will make no difference. If the problem seems to be traffic on our one way in/out bridge, it does not seem to deter the council granting permission for more housing to be built. This has been a problem for many years and if the council is significantly concerned by it the answer lies in improving the infrastructure.

We need this type of supermarket to encourage people to shop locally and help sustain our Island.

Yours faithfully,
