Dear Mr L Oliver:

I have received the planning proposal for 22 Haslemere Gdns. I do have some reservations about the plans. Firstly I'm not happy that the new dwelling will not be erected on the original footprint (approx. 15 feet further back) leading me to believe the frontage will be used as a car parking area. That the plans show the back of the dwelling will now be level with my own and the fact there are to be two bedroom windows on the chalet part of the roof means I will lose the privacy I enjoy at present. It was the reason I purchased my property. Is there no way of reversing the attic plans so that the chalet part is facing the street? No one's privacy affected then. The house/chalet bungalow opposite mine has dormer windows at the front.

Sincerely,
