

Just one more reason this planning should not go ahead the traffic on the havant road is already busting and even more so when there is a problem with the A27/M27.

