Dear David,

With regard to the above, and to the ground floor annexe on the north side, this is very much a part of the main house.

Its origins are in the transition period, from two years ago, when the Levy's rented accommodation on site as prospective purchasers, while the planning and purchase deals were completed. They are currently therein while the building work rages in the rest of the building.

Once the new facilities are completed, the 'annexe' will be integrated in to the overall accommodation.

I trust this is helpful.

regards

Martin
