

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: 30 May 2017 14:23:34 +0100
To: Planning and Development Shared Mailbox
Cc: Havant Auto-Reply
Subject: APP/17/00529

I do not think it will be any good arguing with the planners that Godby House was and is a good home and present government say more help should be given to help such children like those at Godby. I know you are putting them into smaller homes but why not run this along side places like Godby which has several successes as I have seen for myself?

The proposed building for the flats is based on the four storey flats that have been built where Channel House once was, therefore approved by Havant planners and this speaks for itself that no consideration is given to public views as the building is atrocious and a big blot on the seafront and now you want to build something similar. Need I say more?

Four stories is what really makes the eyesore on a stretch of road that is seen by many and there appears to be no consideration given to the fact that Hayling roads are already getting congested. The seafront road is already a dangerous road as it is used as a race track due to the fact it is straight from Beachlands right down to the ferry... No speed limit will alter this. You are dealing with human beings and they will do what they want these days.

As for the effect that the building will have on the houses around your proposal ...the eye sore will be obvious to all and there has been arguments with planners about keeping the trees. The trees need to be kept in fact more need to be added and they need to be tall evergreen to make it more private in the Winter. This again will be in accordance with Government policy of the day that says allotments and farmers should encourage wild life. At present birds and squirrels are enjoying the few trees they have got in Godbey House.

Lets see if paragraph 4 of your letter ref APP/17/00529 dated 26.05.2017 means anything at all and you do take notice of public considerations. In this letter writers case it is why do we get rid of something that works. Four stories is really over the top. Roads not up to the traffic. View from the road and seafront, View/ privacy from the houses around Godbey House and keeping wild life such as it is...

Yours faithfully
Jill White and
Michael Warren