

Dear Arleta

I am forwarding an email [REDACTED]

It confirms that we successfully carried out similar scale works last year in Mill Lane without causing damage or upsetting the residents.

Kind regards

Good afternoon Robert,

[REDACTED], I am
unaware of any concerns regarding the movement of materials resulting from your proposed flood defence plan.

Last April, residents were naturally concerned by your plan to repair the flood defence at the end of Mill Lane involving 15 deliveries of subsoil by 8 wheel, 32 tonne lorry each carrying 20 tonnes of subsoil. Apart from damage to a narrow lane in a conservation area, residents feared problems of access to their properties. As you know, these concerns proved unfounded with nothing more than minor inconvenience and no damage to property or the lane caused. This was no mean achievement considering that additionally an excavator, dumper and associated equipment were also delivered to site and later collected by low-loader, plus the associated light van traffic during the three week repair.

I believe it is this positive experience from last year that explains why you will not receive opposition from residents to your present seawall plans.

All the best

Andy Lewis
