Hi Rob – good afternoon to you too.

My architect provided an example of the area a proposed caravan might take up on the site and where it might be situated, but my client has not made up his mind yet concerning a specific caravan he might want to put on the site, so there is no floor plan available as yet. With regard to the height of the proposed caravan, it will have an internal height of no more than 10ft. I hope that helps.

Best regards,

Graham Lea
